- 1) What do you think of flowcharts?
- I think flowcharts are a great way to get your thoughts organized.
- 2) What do you think of the steps for problem solving?
- I think at times it can be tedious and time consuming. You have to be dedicated to the task.

- 3) What did you find most difficult about this week?
- Actually, I found this entire week to be difficult. I am new to programming and had a horrible time getting everything set up.
- A recent problem I had that needed solved was not being able to import anything from my iPhoto library into iMovie.
- The pictures were in the correct (.jpg) format but the button used to import the photos had been blanked out and was no longer an option to select.

- So I decided to look at the settings on iMovie and see if there was an option that wasn't selected, but needed to be, in order to activate that button. I didn't find anything.
- Then I began to look at potential solutions. Even though, I could not import photos, I was able to use my video camera on my computer and it would upload straight into iMovie.
- Solution 1: See if my sister would allow me to use her computer and then I could pull up what I wanted on her computer and use my computer to video tape it and add it to my project.

- Solution 2: I figured out though, that if I created a PowerPoint, using all the material I wanted for my iMovie project. I could then save it in (.mov) format and it could then be imported into iMovie.
- I felt that solution 2, was the best option and when testing this solution out, it did actually solve my entire issue.
